

100% Supply Chain Connectivity is possible with Edict Systems

Whether your preference is EDI or another method, achieving 100% supply chain connectivity can be difficult. Some of your suppliers may be unable or unwilling to support your preferred method. At Edict Systems, our solutions help buying organizations achieve 100% connectivity by supporting the preferences of both buying organizations and their suppliers.

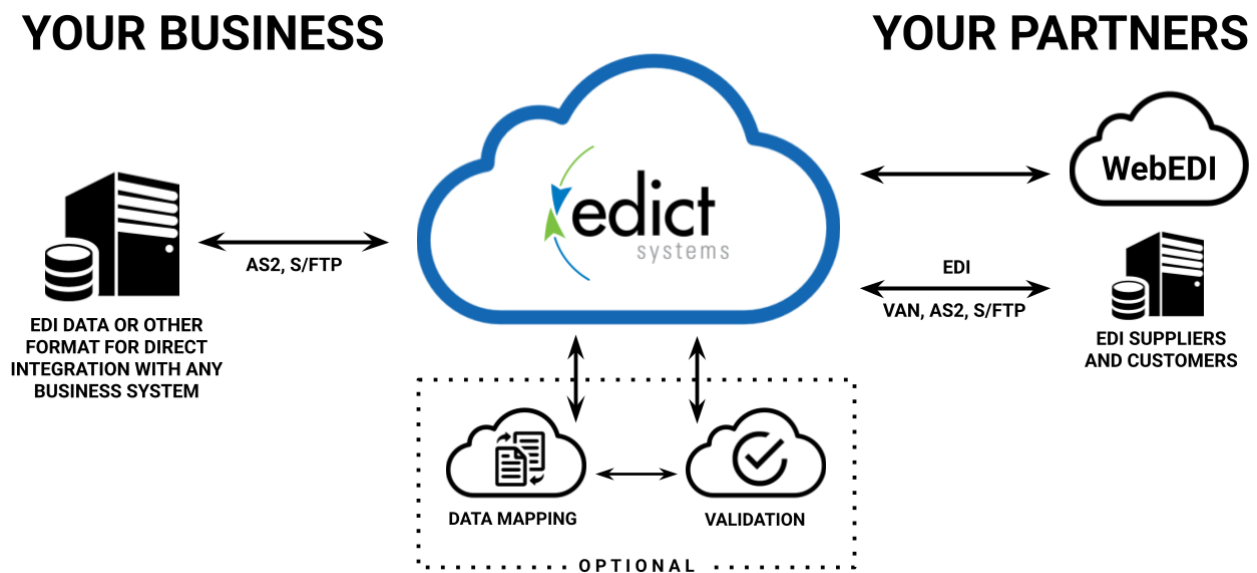

We do EDI so you don't have to®

A SINGLE CONNECTION

With a single connection to EnterpriseEC, Edict Systems' cloud-based B2B trading network, you can connect with all of your suppliers, regardless of how they want to send and receive data.

Your connection to Edict Systems allows our staff to manage the connections to your supply chain. Whether suppliers use Value-Added Networks (VANs), AS2, or S/FTP connections to connect to our network, we handle all trading community connections and make sure your data gets where it needs to go. Those using 3rd party connectivity, mapping, and translation software that connect to Edict Systems can eliminate the costs associated with software licensing and maintenance.

HOW 100% CONNECTIVITY WORKS

Preferred Business Objects (PBO) provide you and your suppliers a way to send and receive business documents in the format preferred by each party.

For example, if your supplier can support your EDI requirements, Edict Systems will pass the EDI data on to them. If their preference is not EDI, we can translate and exchange the EDI data in other methods including web-based EDI, fax, email, or using proprietary formats specific to your suppliers' internal systems.

BUYER BENEFITS

100% SUPPLY CHAIN CONNECTIVITY

Buying organizations can truly connect with all suppliers in the supply chain with Edict Systems. Our affordable solutions extend to low-volume suppliers with our options for 100% supply chain connectivity. If you still have suppliers exchanging business documents using fax or email, we help streamline the process and lower your costs.

MANAGE A SINGLE CONNECTION

Simplify your connections and supplier management with one connection to our system. You will no longer have to maintain and manage multiple supplier connection methods, keep up with changes, process multiple file types, or worry about costs associated with multiple sets of licensing and maintenance fees.

ELIMINATE EXPENSIVE SOFTWARE

Managing one connection to our Cloud-based B2B Trading Network means you can eliminate the expense of software licensing and management if you use 3rd party connectivity software like AS2. You can also take advantage of our optional data translation services, allowing you to eliminate costly EDI translation software and the need for staff with specialized skills.

LOWER COSTS AND AVOID MANUAL PROCESSING

Partnering with Edict Systems means saving time, money, and other valuable resources. Our trusted solutions allow you to eliminate the costs associated with manually processing inbound business documents. All inbound business documents are sent to you in your preferred format and are processed identically without interference or need for specialized staff. No matter how suppliers receive the documents, you receive inbound documents in your preferred format.
